F. TO CONSIDER AND APPROVE THE RESOLUTION IN RELATION TO ENGAGEMENT IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE HEDGING BUSINESS BY THE COMPANY AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

With the growing presence of the Company in the international market, the international business became increasingly robust and promising and, accordingly, foreign currency settlement and overseas financing of the Company increased progressively. In order to avoid the adverse impact of fluctuation in interest rate and exchange rate on the production, operation and cost control of the Company, the Company and subsidiaries under the coverage of the consolidated statements of the Company propose to carry out foreign exchange hedging business with self-owned funds of not more than RMB5 billion (inclusive) or its foreign currency equivalents, based on the import and export businesses relating to foreign exchange, receipts and disbursements of international projects and fund demand of the Company in 2020, and in accordance with the prudent projection principle. The Board only intends to set a cap for the scale of such foreign exchange hedging business and no concrete transaction is proposed to be made for the moment. When entering into any specific transaction, the Company will comply with relevant requirements including Chapter 14 of the Hong Kong Listing Rules.

The foreign exchange hedging business of the Company and its subsidiaries only concerns such major currencies as used for settlement in the production and operation of the Company. Such currencies include US dollars, Australian dollars, Hong Kong dollars and Euros. The foreign exchange hedging business of the Company pertains to business quoted in the stock exchanges and mainly includes forward exchange facilities, futures exchange, foreign exchange swap, interest rate swap and the relevant product portfolio.

Considering the Company's asset scale and business needs, the amount of the foreign exchange hedging business proposed to be carried out by the Company shall not exceed RMB5 billion (inclusive) or its foreign currency equivalents, and not exceed 40% of the latest audited total assets of the Company. The chairman of the Company shall be authorized to approve routine foreign exchange hedging business plans and execute contracts in relation thereto.

The business shall be effective and valid for 12 months from date of consideration and approval at the 2019 AGM of the Company.

Risk analysis and control measures relating to the operation of foreign exchange hedging business:

1. The foreign exchange hedging business of the Company and its subsidiaries shall be conducted in accordance with the principle of hedging for the sake of locking in exchange rate and shall involve in no venture and arbitrage transactions. When entering into contracts, the projected amount for foreign exchange receipts disbursements (including international investment) and debt repayments in the import and export business of the Company shall be heeded strictly.

2. In terms of risks concerning exchange rate fluctuation, the Company will enhance study and analysis of exchange rate, keep abreast of the changes in international markets, and adjust its operation strategy when appropriate to get rid of exchange loss to the utmost. The Company will make proper projections on the exchange rate movements in coordination with its bank partners, keep close track with changes in exchange rate and implement dynamic management base on market changes. It will tightly restrict the proportion of the amount occupied by foreign exchange hedging over the total business amount and allow for strategic adjustment in response to exchange rate fluctuation.
3. For liquidity risks, as the foreign exchange hedging of the Company is based on the budgetary foreign exchange receipts and disbursements of the Company, and the foreign exchange hedging of the Company is therefore well aligned with the actual foreign exchange receipts and disbursements, adequate capital for settlement at delivery is sure to be right in place. As such, there is little impact on the liquid assets of the Company.
4. As to operation risks, the Company has prepared the foreign Exchange Hedging Management System (《外匯套期保值管理制度》), which prescribes that such business can only be carried out with the self-owned funds of the Company and its subsidiaries, and no transaction on financial derivatives purely for the purpose of profit shall be conducted. The Company is staffed with specialty personnel compatible with the post responsibility, who will implement the foreign exchange hedging business in strict compliance with the terms of reference. The Company has also set up the timely reporting system for abnormalities to circumvent operation risks to the extent possible.
5. In order to prevent delayed delivery of foreign exchange hedging, the Company will regulate the total amount of foreign exchange funds and the settlement and sale timing of foreign exchanges in close adherence to the receivable collection scheme. In principle, the lock-up amount and period for foreign currency hedging shall be in line with the recovery amount and time of foreign currency in circulation. In addition, the Company will give special weight to the management of foreign currency receivables to avoid late payment of account receivables.
6. With regard to legal risks, when conducting the foreign currency hedging business, the Company will keep an eye on relevant domestic and overseas policies and regulations and follow closely the requirements under relevant laws and regulations so as to ensure the lawful operations of the Company and its subsidiaries in respect of relevant transactions. Besides, the Company will enter into legal agreements with accurate and clearly defined terms to avoid any possible legal dispute.

7. The audit department shall be responsible for supervising and inspecting the compliance matter of the decision-making, management and implementation of hedging transactions made by the Company and its subsidiaries; making analysis on the operation status and fulfillment of schemes of the Company and its subsidiaries, issuing review opinions on the necessity of the hedging business based thereon and providing information on profit and loss analysis and risk analysis in a timely manner in accordance with the management requirements.

The aforesaid resolution was considered and approved at the 4th meeting of the fifth session of the Board, and is hereby proposed at the AGM for the Shareholders' consideration and approval.
